Whitehall, April 12.

THE following Advices have been received by an Express from his Royal Highness the Duke.

Aberdeen, April 4. The seizing all the Cattle, and demolishing the Habitations of those in Lochabar, who were actually out in Rebellion, has had a very good Effect, as all the Rebels of that County have deserted to go to their own Houses. The Rebels have fitted out a Ship at Findorn, on board of which they propose to carry off the Remainder of their Prisoners to France; and the Person they call the French Ambassador actually arrived there in his Coach four Days ago to embark for France. The Pretender's Son is reported to be still ill at Inverness, and is lodged at the Lady Dowager M'Intosh's. By all we can learn from all their different Parties, there is great Disorder and Confusion amongst them; which, added to the Want of Money, has occasion'd many Mutinies and great Desertion amongst their People. His Royal Highness has spared no Pains or Trouble to put every Thing in Readiness to have been in Motion long ago; but he has met with so many Difficulties of cross Winds, and other Accidents, as have hitherto prevented him. The three last Days of dry South Wind have brought up our Firing and Provisions, and we hope have render'd the Spey fordable. But we expect a Report from thence some Time to Day, the Duke having sent two Officers to reconnoitre it. Major La Fauille having disarmed all the Rebels in Clova and Glen Esk, is expected up here in three or four Days with near 500 recovered Men. His Royal Highness is making a Fort here, in which will be left under the Command of Captain Crosby of the Scotch Fuzileers, a proper Force for securing this Town from any Insults from Glenbucket's People, or any others. His Highness the Prince of Hesse was at Dunkeld upon the 31st past, and proposed to detach 400 Grenadiers, and one Lieutenant, and 30 Hussars to the Relief of Blair that Day; at the same Time 200 Men were to cover their March, and 500 were to be sent towards Tay Bridge, under the Command of Lord Craufurd. By Advices from Ardoch of the 31st of March, Lord Loudoun, and the Men under his Command, were arrived in the Isle of Skie, and joined by Sir Alexander Macdonald of Slate, and as some say by the Lord Fartose; his Royal Highness has sent a large Quantity of Meal thither for their Support. By Advices from the Bay of Tongue in the Shire of Sutherland, the Sheerness Man of War had chased a French Privateer on Shore in that Bay, killed 30 of his Men, and wounded as many more. Eighty common Men and 20 Officers had got on Shore from the Privateer, but were seized by Captain George Mackie, Son to Lord Ray, after a smart Skirmish, in which he killed five Men, and had one of his own wounded.

Letters from Kinbrass in Sutherland, of the 26th past, mention, That the five Companies of Foot belonging to Lord Sutherland had kept themselves safe, and in a Body, in order to execute such Orders as they might receive from his Royal Highness.

They add, that as the Rebels commanded the Communication between Sutherland and Ross, and were in continual Motion, they could not be sure of their Numbers, but that by their best Accounts they did not exceed 3000 in those Parts.

Journal of what passed at Fort William from the 14th to the 27th of March.

14 March. Began to heighten the Parapets of our Walls on the Side where we apprehended the Rebels would attack us. This Work continued the whole Week through, till the two Faces of the Bastions were raised to seven Feet high.

15th. A Detachment of the Garrison, with some Men belonging to his Majesty's Sloops of War, went in armed Boats to endeavour to destroy Killmady Barns, commonly called the Corpoch: The Rebels thereupon flocked down in great Numbers. We fired some Swivels from our Boats. Several small Shot were exchanged. We had a Sailor killed, and three Men wounded. The Tide failing this Scheme miscarried.

Tuesday 18. The Baltimore, Captain Richard How, went up towards Killmady Barns, in order to protect the landing of our Men; he fired several Shot, and threw some Cohorn Shells, and set one Hovel on Fire, but could not attempt landing, for the Rebels were intrench'd by a hollow Road or Rill, and in great Numbers. The Baltimore's Guns being only four Pounders, had no Effect on the Stone Walls of these Barns, which the Rebels had loopholed. We brought our People back without any Damage.

19th. We heard that a Man, whom we fired at last Sunday with a Swivel, was an Engineer in Chief of the Rebels, and was dangerously wounded; also heard that we had kill'd four Rebels at Corpoch Yesterday. Three Centinels and a Drummer of Guise's made their Escape from the Rebels to us; they were taken at Fort Augustus.

20th. Several Parties covering our Sodd Diggers had Skirmishes with the Rebels upon the Neighbouring Hills: But as both Sides skulked behind Craigs and Rocks, we received no Damage, and believe we did as little. This Evening about Eleven o'Clock the Rebels open'd the Siege by discharging 17 Royals or small Bombs of five Inches and half Diameter, weighing about 16 and 18 Pounds each, and loaded with 14 Ounces of Powder, from a Battery erected on a small Hill called the Sugar Loaf, about 800 Yards off; which, because of the Distance, did no Execution, the greatest Part of them falling short: And there were returned from the Garrison against the Rebels, eight Bomb-shells of 13 Inches Diameter, six Cohorns, one 12 Pounder, five 6 Pounders, and two Swivels.

On Friday the 21st the Rebels finding their Battery was too far off, erected a new one at the Foot of the Cow-hill, about 400 Yards off, from which, betwixt Twelve at Night and Four in the Morning, they discharged 84 of their Royals, which did little Damage, save penetrating through the Roofs of several Houses, beating down a few Floors, and slightly wounding two Men of Ollir's Company, and a young Man belonging to the Garrison: And there were returned against them 20 Bombs, nine Cohorns, three 6 Pounders, and two Swivels.

On the 22d the Rebels open'd their Battery of Cannon from Sugar Loaf Hill, consisting only of three Guns of 6 and 4 Pounders, but discharged only seven Times, and that without doing any Damage. About Twelve o'Clock of this Day, they sent a French Drum towards the Fort, who upon his Approach towards the Garrison beat a Parley, and being ordered to come near the Walls, Captain Scott, our Commander, asked him what he came about, to which he answered, That General Stapleton, who commanded the Siege, by Directions from the Pretender's Son, had sent him with a Letter to the commanding Officer of the Garrison, requiring him to surrender. Captain Scott answered, That he would receive no Letters from Rebels, and that he was determined to defend the Fort to the last Extremity. The Drummer being returned to the Rebels with this Answer, a close bombarding ensued from both Sides for some Hours; at last we silenc'd them by beating down their Battery. About Ten that Night the Rebels open'd a second Bomb Battery near the Bottom of the said Cow-hill, about 300 Yards off, from which, and their Battery upon the Sugar Loaf Hill, they discharged before Three in the Morning 194 of their Royals, and six Cannon against us, but without doing any other Damage than penetrating thro' some few Roofs. We did not return them one Shell, but kept all our Men within Doors, except the Picquet to stand by the Fire Engine, the Governor and most of the Officers being upon the Ramparts.

Sunday 23. As soon as Day-light appeared, we fired 23 Bombs, two Cohorns, six 12 Pounders, seven 6 Pounders, and six Swivels at the Rebel Batteries. Some of which must have torn up their Platforms. They in Return fired several Cannon upon us, but did no harm save shooting off a Leg of Donald M'Indeor of Ballinbay's Company. About Three this Afternoon some Vessels appeared with Supplies for us, and as soon as they had dropt Anchor, the Garrison all at once discharged eight 12 Pounders, two 6 Pounders, two Bombs and several Cohorns against their Battery, which were all so well levell'd, that not only a great Part of their Battery was beaten down, but they visibly occasion'd the greatest Confusion amongst them. The Men from the Ships saw several amongst the Rebels fall. We understand that they had given out, that they would burn this Place in four Hours after their last Battery was erected. All this Evening the Rebels were employed in erecting erecting another Work or Battery under Cover of their Cannon, about 300 Yards off, at the Foot of the Cow-hill, which was spied from the Top-mast of one of the Ships.

Monday 24. We fired but little, and the Rebels but little also. We employed the greatest Part of this Day in getting our Provisions on Shore.

Tuesday 25. At Day-break we sent out a Party to a Place about six Miles off, to bring in some Cattle. The Rebels fired a good deal all this Morning, and we plied them a little with our Mortars and Guns. About Three in the Afternoon our Party returned with 29 good Bullocks and Cows. This Evening we sent off another Party of 40 Men, for another Prize of Bullocks, to pass the Narrows of Carron, and get off all they could from the Rebels Estates.

Wednesday 26. We fired slowly at their Batteries on the Hills, and as they only fired from two Guns, we concluded that we had dismounted the third. This Afternoon our Boats returned with Cattle and Sheep from the Country near Airdshields; they also brought in four Prisoners, one of which was wounded. The Party burnt two Rebel Villages on Appin's Estate. This Night Captain Scott went out and dam'd up some Drains near our Walls, in Hopes if rainy Weather, to make a small Inundation, and with some Pioneers raised the Glacis, or rather a Parapet, to 7 Feet; for Want of Pallisadoes we could not make a right cover'd Way, but still this will prevent the Rebels seeing the Foot of our Walls.

Thursday 27. At Day-break the Rebels opened their new Battery of four Embrasures, but only with three Guns, six Pounders, with which they fired very briskly. We plied them well with our Mortars and Guns, and silenced one Gun before Eight in the Morning; about Nine we set their Battery Magazine on Fire, which blew up. Their Fire was mostly laid at our Buildings, which they could not reach very low. We had this Day two Men a little bruised, and the Governor's Horse wounded in the Stable. Thus in eight Days Siege, and pretty smart Firing with Cannon, and 300 six Inch Shells thrown at us, we have lost but one Man killed, seven wounded, and two bruised. We are all in good Spirits, and hope to give a very good Account of ourselves.

Edinburgh, April 5. As Fort William has been supplied with every thing necessary by Major General Campbell, it is hoped the Rebels will not be able to take it. By Express from the Isle of Skie by the Way of Inverary, Lord Loudoun, Lord President, and Mr. M'Leod, with about 900 Men, arrived there the 26th of March; they are there safe from the Enemy, as there is a Ship of War to guard the Coast. An Express is arrived from Perth, by which we are informed, that upon the 3d Instant, by Five o'Clock in the Morning, the Earl of Craufurd, with a Party of Dragoons, arrived at Blair Castle, and was followed by the Duke of Athol, and both were received by Sir Andrew Agnew; that the Rebels were retired to Ruthven; and that upon the 4th the Prince of Hesse set out from Dunkeld for Blair with all the Cavalry and Hussars, and was followed by 1000 Foot.

Whitehall, April 12.

Late last Night arrived an Express from Edinburgh, dispatched the 8th Instant, and brought the following Account of the raising of the Siege of Fort William.

Fort William, April 1.

The 31st of March Capt. Scott order'd 12 Men from each Company to march out to the Craigs, about 100 Yards from the Garrison, where the Rebels had a Battery; which, after some Dispute, and the Loss of one Man only, viz. Serjeant Duncan Steward, of the Argyllshire Troops, they rushed in upon, and made themselves Masters of. They brought in three Brass Field Pieces 4 Pounders, and two of the Cohorns, from which the Rebels threw their Shells, and brought off another Brass Cannon, a 6 Pounder; which being too heavy to drag in, they spiked and left under the Walls, whence they afterwards dismounted it by a Cannon-Shot. The other large Cannon, and Mortars on that Battery, they likewise spiked, and left there, and brought in two Prisoners. The Rebels still continue, with five Cannon they have mounted, to give us all the Uneasiness in their Power, having destroy'd the Roofs of most of the Houses, but we do not mind that, while the Men are safe.

Ellanfstalker, April 4. Yesterday the Rebels left their Batteries, and raised the Siege of Fort William. Captain Scott is in Possession of eight Cannon and seven Mortars, which they have left behind them.

Naples, March 22, N. S. On the 18th their Majesties returned to this City from their Hunting Diversion in the Woods of Bovino. As the King of Naples was changing Post-Horses at Grottaminardo, they run with such Fury, that his Majesty was overturned, but escaped with a slight Bruise on his Forehead. The King has settled a Pension upon the Postillion for Life. Orders from Court have been notified to suspend the Embarkation of the Battalion out of the Regiment Royal Farnese, and other Detachments on board of five Transports, as also for the Departure of two Gallies for the Coast of Genoa.

Turin,

Turin, April 2. General Keil, with 18 Battalions of Prince Lichtenstein's Body of Troops, has besieged and reduced the Castle of Casal, the Garrison of which has surrender'd Prisoners of War. The said 18 Battalions have since pass'd the Tessin, to reinforce M. de Bernclau in the Neighbourhood of Pavia, where M. de Gages still continues with the major Part of his Army, in order to cover the Retreat of his Artillery, which by our Accounts was daily passing the Po with the utmost Diligence.

Vienna, April 9.

The following is an Extract of a Letter just received from General Brown's Camp at Sorbolo, dated the 2d of April, 1746.

We are three Italian Miles from Parma, into which Place M. de Castellar had thrown himself with between 4 and 5000 Men; but a Spanish Deserter this Moment informs us of the Enemy's Retreat to Plaisance, and having left only a single Battalion in the Castle of Parma. We are going to march, and it is probable we may render M. de Castellar's Retreat difficult. All our Advices say, that the Equipages of the Infant and M. de Gages are in the Road to Genoa. The Deserters unanimously confirm this News, and the Motions of M. de Castellar seem to assure us of a sudden Revolution in Italy. Bernclau and Prince Lichtenstein advance towards Pavia, whilst the Troops of the King of Sardinia hem in the French and Genoese in the Territories of Genoa, so that every Thing goes well.

Berlin, April 12. By Advices from Dresden, the Empress of Russia has demanded of Poland the Permission to march 40000 Men from Smolensko through Part of Lithuania to Riga. His Prussian Majesty is expected at Charlottenbourg To-night, and in Town Tomorrow.

Copenhagen, April 12. The Equipment of the three Men of War goes on so eagerly, that the People concern'd in it have been oblig'd to work all these Holidays. Each Ship is to carry two Mortars; and they say that an extraordinary Quantity of Bombs, Powder and Ball is preparing to be put on board. Their Destination is for the Mediterranean. When this Equipment, which seems the most pressing, is finish'd, they talk of fitting out three more Ships, but these 'tis thought will be employed in cruising upon the Baltick. The King of Denmark, who has been for some Time on the mending Hand, was so well as to go once in the Holy Week to the Chappel Royal; but his Majesty has not been lately abroad in his Coach.

Hague, April 19, N. S. It is now written from Paris, that the French King is to be at Brussels by the 6th of next Month. The Swiss Guards were to begin their March as to Day, and the rest of the Household Troops to follow successively. The Army which his most Christian Majesty is to head himself, is given out by the French to consist of 150 Battalions and 237 Squadrons; and the same Advices say, that the Prince of Conti is to command another of 50 Battalions and 90 Squadrons, between the Sambre and the Meuse. In the mean time, Things continue quiet upon the Frontier, and the Austrian Regiments are allowed to be compleater, and in better Order than was expected. Field Marshal Bathiani gives great Satisfaction to the other Generals of all Nations. The Empress has promoted the Prince of Waldeck to the Rank of Field Marshal in her Service. The Dutch Troops are now all returned hither from England. The French persist in refusing the Ransom of the Garrison of Brussels. The last Advices from Italy mention, that the Generals Brown and Nadausti had invested Parma, into which Place M. de Castellar had thrown himself with 5000 Men, and the Count de Gages was marching from Pavia to join him, whilst Prince Lichtenstein and General Bernclau were coming out of the Milanese to reinforce Count Brown.

Whitehall, April 12.

The King has been pleased to order a Congé d'Elire to pass the Great Seal of Great Britain, to the Dean and Chapter of the Cathedral Church of Hereford, empowering them to elect a Bishop of that See, now void by the Death of the Right Reverend Father in God Dr. Henry Egerton, late Bishop thereof, and issue his Letters Mandatory, therein naming and recommending to the said Dean and Chapter, the Right Honourable and Reverend James Beauchamp, commonly called Lord James Beauchamp, Doctor in Divinity, to be by them chosen Bishop of that See.

WHITEHALL.

Almonry Office, April 12, 1746.

Whereas divers Persons of Distinction have recommended Petitions for a Share in the Distribution of the King's Alms at Easter and Christmas, by signing their Names to the said Petitions, and have been in some Cases (as upon Enquiry has been found) imposed on by those who have prevailed on them to sign the said Petitions; The LORD ALMONER thinks proper to give Notice, that he will receive no such Petitions so signed, unless the Person who signs the Petition shall think proper to testify in his own Hand writing, — "That he knows the Petitioner to be a real Object of Charity."

And the Petitioners for a Share of the said Alms are hereby required to insert in their Petitions their Places of Abode, so distinctly, that Enquiry may be made concerning them, if Need be.
